Perry Wildes practices corporate and securities law, with an emphasis on U.S. and international corporate securities matters and cross border transactions. He represents Israeli and foreign companies in the full range of corporate and securities matters, including public and private financing transactions, mergers and acquisitions and joint ventures. Perry advises Israeli companies registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on their SEC and stock exchange disclosure obligations, corporate governance issues, securities offerings and securities law compliance obligations. Perry's practice also includes SEC enforcement and other regulatory investigations.

Perry joined GKH in 2001 and became a partner in 2005. Prior to that, Perry worked as a corporate associate at the law firm of Robinson, Silverman, Pearce, Aronsohn & Berman LLP and as a corporate associate at the law firm of Fried, Frank, Harris, Shriver & Jacobson, both in New York City.
